The Sovereign Art Foundation has announced the 30 shortlisted finalists for The Sovereign Asian Art Prize. The winner will be announced on May 9.

The prize, which was launched in 2003 and is sponsored by private banking group Bank Julius Baer, is one of the most established contemporary art awards in the Asia-Pacific region and offers a cash prize of US$30,000.

The works will be exhibited at the Rotunda in Exchange Square, Hong Kong until May 8 and the public is invited to vote online or in person for their favourite piece. The artist winning this public vote will be awarded The Schoeni Prize and US$1,000.

All shortlisted artworks will be auctioned at a gala dinner on May 9 with the proceeds split equally between the artists and the Foundation's charity partners who champion art education among under-privileged children in the region.

The shortlisted artists are:
